Call to Confession

Prayer of Confession (in unison)
God of Grace, we do not always live as your Word teaches us.
There are times when we fail to express gratitude for the many blessings we enjoy,
but we are rarely slow to complain.
We do not always bless one another.
We do not always let love spark our faith to pray for those in need.
Sometimes we withhold the words and actions that could encourage one of your children to believe in you,
and in their own ability to make a difference in the world.
We ask for forgiveness.
Change us and change this world we live in,
so that together we might be a song of praise,
to bless you and to bless this world you love.

Silent Confession

Thy kingdom come,
thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven.
Give us this day our daily bread.
And forgive us our trespasses,

And lead us not into temptation,
but deliver us from evil.
For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen.

Let nothing ever grieve thee, distress thee, nor fret thee; heed God's good will, my soul, be still, compose thee. Why brood all day in sorrow? Today's Music:

God, Whose Love Is Reigning o'er Us

The processional hymn by William B. Grove, a retired United Methodist Bishop, was composed for his daughter's wedding. Stanzas one and two praise the loving Creator and Sustainer of Life; three and four tell of the Creator's covenants via Abraham, Sarah and Jesus. The final stanza calls us to live the words of love that we sing. John Goss's LAUDA ANIMA (Praise, my soul), is one of the most widely sung, inviting and enduring tunes of the vast Victorian repertory.

Lift High the Cross

The long journey of the closing hymn began in 1887 in a mission's festival held in Westminster Abbey, London, reduced to 12 stanzas in 1916, from which four were adapted for this hymnal. Sydney H. Nicholson's memorable tune CRUCIFER (cross-bearer), was composed for the text. Its strong unison refrain, and four stanzas in reflective four-part harmony have established it as a favorite of all ages and singing abilities. The hymn rightly serves as a procession into the world where we are called to honor and serve the risen Christ.

Preaching: Michael Williams

"Jesus and the Ten Lepers"

Luke 17:11-19

On the way to Jerusalem Jesus was going through the region between Samaria and Galilee. As he entered a village, ten lepers approached him. Keeping their distance, they called out, saying, 'Jesus, Master, have mercy on us!' When he saw them, he said to them, 'Go and show yourselves to the priests.' And as they went, they were made clean. Then one of them, when he saw that he was healed, turned back, praising God with a loud voice. He prostrated himself at Jesus' feet and thanked him. And he was a Samaritan. Then Jesus asked, 'Were not ten made clean? But the other nine, where are they? Was none of them found to return and give praise to God except this foreigner?' Then he said to him, 'Get up and go on your way; your faith has made you well.'
